Antar Vaughan joined the firm as a member in March 2016, and currently concentrates his practice in the areas of civil trial law, insurance defense, commercial litigation defense, and intellectual property (copyrights and trademarks). His practice includes handling cases in Florida Federal and State Courts. He is admitted to practice in the States of Florida and New York, the Federal District Court of the Southern District of Florida, the Federal District Court of the Middle District of Florida, and the Federal Court of Appeal for the Eleventh Circuit.

Mr. Vaughan attended the University of Virginia and received his Bachelor of Arts degree in Psychology in the Spring of 1997. After working as a paralegal with a law firm in Richmond, VA, he enrolled in the University of Miami School of Law and obtained his J.D. in the Spring of 2001 (cum laude). While in law school, he was a member of the Moot Court Board; Vice-President of the Black Law Students Association; Vice-Chair of the Student Bar Senate; a member of Omicron Delta Kappa (National Leadership Honor Society); and a member of Alpha Epsilon Lambda (Graduate Honor Society). After graduation from law school, Mr. Vaughan worked with the one of the then largest firms in Florida (Ruden McClosky et al.); while there, he concentrated his practice in civil litigation defense. Mr. Vaughan eventually relocated to New York and began practicing with a boutique litigation defense firm that handled products liability defense and medical malpractice defense matters. While at the New York firm, he worked primarily with the products liability defense division and worked on several asbestos litigation trials in New York.

Prior to joining Gass Weber Mullins, Mr. Vaughan was a partner in a boutique complex commercial litigation defense firm in South Florida that concentrated heavily on banking litigation and related issues.
